CONGRESS JAM IS CLEARED AWAY

Work Of The Session Is Virtually Completed

ALMOST READY TO ADJOURN

Only Two Important Bills To Be Acted On

(BY LAWRENCE MARTIN)

WASHINGTON—(United Press)—With the clatter and bang that has become habitual with expiring congresses, the 67th congress today was noisily working its way to the finish.

There was no reason except the constitutional limitation, why congress could not have met at 11 today and adjourned at noon. Its work was virtually done.

Nevertheless, a tremendous show of energy was being made in both houses For the first time in years, the ending of congress found the decks clear of major legislation Only two bills of importance were left today to be acted on—the conference reports on farm credits and the third deficiency bill

WAY CLEARED

The jam was cleared away when the senate's filibuster against ship subsidy ended and since then many bills have slipped quietly down smooth waters, into a haven.

Many members seemed a bit bored with the undramatic death of the present congress. Some already have gone home, not caring to wait for the final curtain

Many small bills still bobbed about today on the surface of the legislative waters, while congressional lumber jacks did their best to pole them into positions where they would be built into the "raft of legislation" which will make up the record of this congress.

"If we cannot have drama with out adjournment, let us have a few helpful little bills that will be duly appreciated back home," remarked Pat Harrison, facetiously comment-

BUILDING TIED UP BY STRIKE

Work On Big Construction Jobs At Cleveland Halted

UNSKILLED LABORERS QUIT

Idleness Of Carpenters And Plasterers Is Forced

CLEVELAND — (United Press) —Building trades industry faced a tie-up today as 1,500 bricklayers, carpenters and plasterers were forced to quit work due to a strike of unskilled workers.

Two thousand unskilled workers were standing pat on their deman for a 12 cent an hour increase in wages.

Bricklayers were threatening to strike Monday, if demands for $1 50 an hour were not met.

The strike of laborers is directed at the Building Trades Employers Association contractors.

"Independents" are not affected

The building trades tie-up occurred when the skilled trades found they were unable to obtain materials thru the walkout of unskilled workers

Apartment houses and downtown buildings under construction are affected

$2,000,000 HOSPITAL PLANNED

CLEVELAND — A homeopathic hospital group to cost $2,000,000 will be erected by the Cleveland Homeopathic Medical Society, it was announced today by Dr. Lester Siemon, president of the organization. The main building, which will cost close to $1,000,000, will be completed by July 1, 1924, Dr. Siemon declared. Where it is to be erected will be decided within the next two months.

BANKER TO BE TRIED ON HOMICIDE CHARGE SOON

PHILADELPHIA — Henry G Brock, wealthy clubman and banker who is charged with homicide in connection with the running down and killing of three persons by an automobile early yesterday, will be brought to trial promptly, District Attorney Rotan announced today The banker is at liberty on $35,000 bail.

Brock flatly denies he was the driver of the death car.

No date has been fixed for the inquest by Coroner Knight.

27 RESCUED FROM WRECKED MINE

Eleven Believed Killed In West Virginia Explosion

BLUFIELD, W Va. — (Associated Press) — Rescue parties early today again entered the mine of the Weyanoke Coal and Coke Company at Arista, Mercer-co, to search in its blast torn passages for five miners still entombed nearly 24 hours after the terrific explosion of yesterday when 38 workers were imprisoned

It was expected that the death list would be definitely fixed at eleven today as mine company officials held out little hope that the five men still entombed were alive. Six bodies were recovered last night. The remaining 27 workers, trapped when the walls of the mine crumbled, were saved by rescuers. They were only slightly injured.

The explosion was caused by an overcharge of dynamite used in blasting, according to W. A. Craven, mine superintendent

4 OFFICERS ARE BULLET VICTIMS

Pine Mountain, Tennessee, Is Scene Of Fierce Fight

THREE BOOTLEGGERS KILLED

Attempt Made To Starve Liquor Fleet Off New York

JELLICO, Tenn. — (Associated Press) — Three alleged rum runners were killed and four officers wounded in a brisk battle during the night on Pine Mountain, near here.

The officers intercepted the whisky carriers as they neared Jellico with a supply of liquor. The bootleggers opened fire and the officers replied.

After the brief gun fight the dead were identified as Walter Perkins, Morrison Ayres and George Perkins

Officers wounded were:

Prohibition Agent W. S. Jaynes of Tazewell; Police Chief Heatherly, of Tazewell, and Deputy Sheriff Covey and Perry Covey's condition was critical.

NEW YORK — (Associated Press) — The re-establishment of a rum fleet after several weeks of absence was reported last night Six steamers and five schooners, were the visitors.

The buccaneers however, may ultimately be forced to subsist on their cargoes if custom officials obtain a ruling from the treasury department to stop food from being ferried to them from shore.

Officials are intent upon ensuring that the proposed ruling can arrest the food purveyors as conspirators to violate the anti-smuggling and Volstead laws

DIRECTORS CHOSEN FOR EQUITY UNION CREAMERY

Five hundred farmers attended the annual stockholders meeting of the Farmers' Equity Union Creamery company at Memorial Hall and elected the following directors:

William Klinger, Lima; H. J. Sunderland, Spencerville; J. F. Gerdeman, Ottawa; Fred Wierwille, New Knoxville; Henry Sommers, Minster. Klinger is president of the organization.

The company's plant will soon be completed and in operation, it was said by officials.

MRS. BUZZI MAY BE RELEASED

Expected To Prove Alibi In The Schneider Killing

NEW YORK — (Associated Press) — Another attempt to force the release of Mrs. Anna Buzzi, held as a material witness in the murder of Frederick Schneider, the Bronx contractor who was murdered last Monday, was in preparation today by her attorney, fortified by admission of the prosecution that investigation only tends to prove the woman's alibi.

From Mrs. Schneider, District Attorney Glennon had learned that Schneider was maneuvering to have Mrs. Buzzi and re-establish his home with his wife in California where they could start anew.

On two occasions when they inadvertently met in restaurants, Mrs. Buzzi displayed vindictive antagonism to Schneider's wife, Mr. Glennon said Mrs. Schneider told him, Only the wife said, Mrs. Buzzi followed Mrs. Schneider outside to her automobile and stood on the running board shouting "vile names" until Schneider pulled her away.

SHOOTS BROTHER, DEFIES POLICE

Crazed Man, Barricaded, Battles Officers At Cleveland

BOMBARDED WITH BOMBS

War Veteran Captured After Fight Of Many Hours

CLEVELAND — (Associated Press) — Efforts of more than a score of policemen to dislodge John Weitzel, youthful world war veteran, who, laboring under the delusion that "murderers" are after him, barricaded himself in a room last night, were successful, early today after every tear bomb in the city had been thrown into the house.

Weitzel, crazed by a flareback of a nervous disorder from shell shock in France, fired at every one who approached the house. His brother Herbert was wounded in the face. Two policemen miraculously escaped injury when bullets passed thru their clothing.

The trouble started late in the evening while Weitzel was seated in the parlor of his home with his mother and 18-year-old sister. He was nervous and repeatedly pleaded with them to "come on upstairs where the murderers can't get us."

SHOOTING BEGINS

"There's one of them now," he screamed as Herbert unexpectedly opened the door on his return home. With that the crazed man shot, the bullet inflicting a glancing wound in Herbert's cheek. Herbert summoned the police. When they arrived he began shooting at them.

Reinforcements were summoned. They brought tear bombs which

SHIPPING IS TAKEN OVER BY FRENCH

Invaders Now Occupy Most Important Industrial Centers

GERMANS PLAN RESISTANCE

Rail Workers Strike As Shops Are Confiscated

(By CARL D. GROAT)

BERLIN —(United Press) —The French today occupied three of the most important industrial centers of the Rhine valley — Mannheim, Darmstadt and Karlsruhe.

The advance of several companies which seized these cities puts the French much nearer to Frankfurt and the Germans fear this city may next be taken.

About 300 troops were used in the occupation of Mannheim, 125 of these bringing their baggage and camping out in the Hilda school house, while others scattered thru out industrial quarters.

The Luzonburg railroad station and the Mannheim customs office were occupied.

At Darmstadt, a company of white French troops and, according to reports from German sources, one of the colored, marched into the city and confiscated railroad workshops.

CONTROL SHIPPING

By seizing the harbor section of Mannheim, the French control Rhine shipping and the customs.

Posts to put this control immediately into effect, were established. The Germans have frequently incorrectly reported advances upon these two cities. Today's occupation was effected swiftly. It was a shock to the inhabitants, who immediately arranged measures of resistance. Railway workers at both Darmstadt and Mannheim quit work when they found the French in their midst.

The invaders were native to the Ruhr as well, rounding up officials who are to be deported, arrested

,000 DAMAGE IN OVEN BLAST

al Products Plant Enameling Room Wrecked

Explosion in the electric enamel ding ovens of the Lima Sheet al Products company, Charles-st d Pennsylvania railroad, at 10 a. m. Saturday caused property damage timated at from $6,000 to $8,000.

Two workmen, G. R. Hupp, 517 Jamieson-av, and George Kempher, 745 Richie-av, who were engaged in the enameling room at the time of the explosion, were uninjured, altho the west and north walls of the room were blown out and windows in the west and east walls were wrecked.

The explosion was caused, it it believed by F. J. Moor, general superintendent, by the failure of automatic safety devices on top of the ovens to work properly. The ovens were filled with metal work, to be used in building vapo stoves and were heated with electricity. The oven is destroyed.

The loss is not covered by insurance, officials asserted.

So strong was the force of the blast, according to Kempher, one of the workman in the room at the time, that the roof was lifted from its supports. "I did not notice a flash, but could feel the force of the explosion and saw the walls crumble as if by magic," Kehpher said.

The south wall, which separates the enameling room from the metal working department, was forced approximately six inches out of line and will have to be rebuilt, it is believed. The entire enameling room will also have to be reconstructed.

CAPACITY CROWD GREETS TROUBADORIAN PLAYERS IN PLAY AT HIGH SCHOOL

Good dramatic ability was displayed Friday night when the Troubadorian society of Central high school presented the comedy drama, "Come Out of the Kitchen" by A. E. Thomas at Central auditorium. It was most attractively staged and the leads were well enacted by William Kirk and Dorothy Lawson.

The story centers around the Daingerfield family. The mother and father have gone to Europe and the four children are left at home to take care of the large estate in Virginia. Being hard pressed for money they decide to lease the home to a millionaire, Mr. Crane. At the last minute, servants engaged failed to appear and it is up to the children to meet the emergency. The remainder of the story revolves around this condition and there are many humorous situations before Crane realizes the joke: He discharges all of them but Jane Ellen, the cook, with whom he has fallen in love and of course there is a happy ending when he expresses his love for her.

The cast was well selected and all proved their dramatic ability. Dorothy Lawson gave a splendid portrayal of Jane Ellen, the eldest daughter and later the Irish cook; William Kirk was clever as the young millionaire and Martha Dildine, Alfred Dexter and Robert Shaffer deserve favorable mention. Others in the cast included Marie Herrick, Marian Yocum, William Bowyer, Donald Friedly Sheldon Ackerman and Robert Pew.

A capacity crowd greeted the players.

10 HOMES TO BE BUILT BY BENTZ IN 2 MONTHS

F. H. Bentz company, local real estate operators, will complete construction of ten of twenty-one new homes on Orena-av within two months, it was announced Saturday. All will be ready for occupancy by early fall, it was said.

Orena-av is to be paved sometime during the summer.

Permits were taken out for the houses Saturday. They will be six-room frame homes and will cost about $5,000 each, Bentz said. The company has a total of about 40 new houses now under construction.

GANNA OFFERS HELP TO RUSSIAN OPERA COMPANY

CHICAGO — Ganna Walska McCormick, Polish diva, today offered to "help out" the Russian grand opera company, which opens the third week of its season here Monday. Ganna drifted into her home town, unheralded and unsung, from her eastern concert tour last night. Accompanied by Mrs. Emmons Blaine, sister of Harold McCormick and her manager, Jules Daiber, the Polish star attended the Russian opera.

After the performance Daiber approached S. Hurok, manager, and said that since Bourskaya, star of the company, had left to join a New York company, Ganna Walska might lend a hand as a "guest artist" for a few performances.

BABE RUTH CRITICALLY ILL AT HOT SPRINGS

HOT SPRINGS—"Babe Ruth is a very sick man," was the word early today from the sick room here of the mighty slugger of the New York Yanks, who is suffering from influenza.

Ruth's temperature was given as 104 today by Dr. A. W. Wooten, attending physician. Babe was sent to bed with a high fever late yesterday when he failed to throw off effects of a cold.

ANNEX IS PLANNED

Argonne Hotel Company To Build On Adjacent Lot

An annex to the Argonne hotel, with business rooms on the street floor, will be built on the lot on High-st just west of the hotel, it was announced Saturday. The lot was purchased by the hotel company from O. D. Fisher and Mrs. A. J. Dunn for $40,000. It has a 40-foot frontage on High-st and is 100 feet deep.

No definite plans for the hotel annex have been formed, Frank A. Colucci, of the Argonne, said Saturday.

HUMANE SOCIETY SEEKS NEW APPROVED METHOD OF KILLING MEAT ANIMALS

Allen County Humane society heard the report of Frank Killian, humane officer, at its meeting in the office of M. L. Becker, 204 Holmes-blk, Friday afternoon.

The national president of the S. P. C. A. has offered a prize of $15,000 to any person who will invent a humane device for killing meat animals in packing houses and abattoirs, it was announced by Mrs. L. H. Rogers, secretary.

Persons observing cases of cruelty to animals are asked to report them to Killian, 204 Holmes-blk. Names of informants will not be made public, Mrs. Rogers said.

FREIGHT EMBARGO AGAIN AFFECTS LIMA SHIPMENTS

Eastbound carload freight, either originating on the Pennsylvania Railroad system or received from connecting lines from the territory west of Mansfield, Columbus and Dresden and including those points has been placed under an embargo, according to advice received at the local offices.

The order exempts livestock, perishable freight, fuel, newsprint paper and agricultural implements and supplies. This is the same embargo, in revised form, first placed December 16. It will be in force until further notice.

Congestion on the Pennsylvania system and inability of eastern lines to accept current shipments, is responsible for the continuation of the embargo, it was said at the local freight office.

CHURCHES TO UNITE IN GOOD FRIDAY PLANS

Special services in observance of Good Friday, March 30 this year, will be held for members of all churches at the Market-st Presbyterian church, according to plans made at the quarterly meeting of the Allen-co Council of Churches at the Y. M. C. A. Friday night.

The program has not been completed, but seven speakers will be secured, Rev. W. H. Baker, pastor of South Side Church of Christ, announced Saturday.

The council held a general discussion of the work of the Men's club, a luncheon club of ministers and lay representatives of the various churches, which meets every Friday at the Y. M. C. A. Rev. C. McLeod Smith, of Toledo, who was scheduled to address the meeting Friday night, was unable to attend.

TEMPERANCE CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED IN BRITAIN

LONDON—A national united temperance campaign of the churches has been launched in Great Britain, the legislative program of which is "no sale of intoxicating liquor to persons under 18 years of age, local option for England and Wales, no sales or supply of intoxicating liquor on Sundays, subjection of the supply of intoxicating liquor in clubs to the grant of an annual license by the local justices."

The archbishop of Canterbury who presided at the opening meeting of the campaign said the churches did not propose to advocate prohibition or the ownership of licensed houses by public authorities.

HOME DESTROYED

Child Throws Coal Oil In Stove At Union-St Residence

The home of Thomas Younger, 807 S. Union-st, was entirely destroyed by fire late Friday afternoon, when his four-year-old daughter Mary, threw coal oil in a cook stove. The flames spread to the residence of Louis Abel, next door and damaged one side of the house. Damage to the two homes is estimated at $2,500 by Fire Chief Mack.

Mrs. Younger was absent from home, doing some shopping, leaving Mary, age four, at home. She secured some coal oil left in a can in the house and threw it into the stove. An explosion followed which threw liquid fire about the room. How the child escaped from the burning building is unexplained as no one saw her leave.

The entire structure was in flames when firemen arrived and the fire was spreading to the home of Abel. Two lines of hose were laid and firemen confined their efforts to saving nearby houses.

Both places are owned by Peter Keller and are protected by insurance. Younger's household goods were covered by insurance.

RUSSIA WANTS U. S. MODEL FARM SHOW

MOSCOW.—An international agricultural exhibition will be held here beginning Aug. 1, 1923. The committee in charge would be tickled to death if the United States would send a "Standard Model Farm" for the occasion.

The Russian peasants have been told time and again that the American farm system is the most efficient in tthe world. Besides this model farm, the Russian farmers hope the United States will send over some tractors, all kinds of farm machinery especially for use in the sugar, fruit and lumber industries.

All exhibition goods will be free from any customs or other duties. Exhibited goods may be sold, in which case they will have to pay the customs duties.

The committee in charge has already received applications for space from several hundred German firms and concerns in England, Denmark, Italy and Japan. Checho-Slovakia, a great agricultural country, has also pledged a big display.

GERMANY DELIVERS SHIPS TO ARGENTINE

BUENOS AIRES — Naval limitations have not affected the purchase of auxiliary naval craft by the Argentine Government to any appreciable extent. The Stinnes shipbuilding organization has just delivered ten scout cruisers to the Argentine naval authorities, and it is stated that the construction of these ships is of the most modern and efficient character.

Some of the German crew will be retained by the Argentine navy under special contract owing to their special knowledge of the characteristics of those crafts. The Fritz Hugo Stinnes V. which came as mother-ship across the Atlantic, acting as tended for the flotilla brought over a valuable cargo for the account of the Stinnes export organization. The Germans evidently believe in killing two birds or twenty, with one stone, wherever possible.

PHOTOGRAPHER BURNED BY FLASHLIGHT POWDER

Condition of Adam Pepoit, 30, proprietor of the Adon studio, Metropolitan block, who was severely burned about the hands and face Friday night at 10:30, while taking pictures at Central high school auditorium, of the members of the cast of "Come Out of the Kitchen," after the play was concluded, was reported to be greatly improved Saturday morning by attending physicians at St. Rita's hospital, where he was taken following the explosion.

Flashlight powder exploded prematurely, burning Pepiot severely but not seriously.

W. O. AGENT INJURED

C. W. Dingledine, 30, married, ticket agent at the Western Ohio railroad office at St. Marys, was felled and bruised when a baggage truck was struck and hurled by an interurban car.

HOGS BRING $33 EACH

Sixty-three brood sows were sold at auction at an average price of $33 per head at the Kruse hog pavilion east of St. Marys. The sows weighed around 220 pounds each. They are yearlings with the exception of a dozen specimens two and three years old.

JOHN LENHART DIES

Seven sons and three daughters survive John Lenhart, 79, who died suddenly at St. Marys at the residence of his son-in-law, Edwin Kellermeyer. Interment takes place at Port Jefferson.

GIRL RELEASED

YOUNGSTOWN — Miss Johanna Dickson, aged 20, was released by police today after she had promised to quit masquerading as a man and to give up the job as a steel mill laborer which she had held for several weeks until her disguise was penetrated yesterday.

CATCHES 3-FOOT STURGEON

SANDUSKY — Frederick Schultz, Kelley's Island, fishing thru the ice in Lake Erie off the Island, reported he caught a sturgeon three and a half feet long, and weighing 15 pounds.

SPRING TOUCH IS LINGERING

Just a little practice is all Ted'll need to get himself back into old time form on the golf course, where the sun of his fame shone so brilliantly last season.

Since balmy days featured Friday and Saturday, the weather mascot is taking stock of his golf sticks and supply of balls, in anticipation of the first work-out. He's hoping Bob Ashley will get the new municipal course laid out soon and ready for action.

When brisk winds blew up from the west Friday night, the pessimistically inclined developed the belief that "blustery March" was about to develop its accustomed disagreeable conditions, but the "blow" did not long endure and loose windows stopped their rattle about midnight.

Rain late tonight and Sunday is the program, according to the weather maker. Colder Sunday and in north and east portions tonight.

Not altogether a pleasing outlook, but it could be worse, you'll have to agree.

Mental pictures of growing garden "sass" and budding trees and shrubs are permissible, but don't become too sanguine. There's many a slip 'twixt cup and lip, you know.

LEGION ELECTS OFFICER PERSONNEL, OPENS DRIVE FOR 1,000 NEW MEMBERS

Election of J. Franklin Cover, 201 N. Washington, as commander of William Paul Gallagher post of the American Legion Friday night, marked the opening of a membership drive by the local post for $1,000 new members. Cover succeeds Morris Connor.

Other officers chosen at the annual election are: Bert Wilcox, vice commander; Pete DeWeese, adjutant; Brooks Atwood, treasurer, Meyrl LeValley, sergeant-at-arms; Dr. J. H. Blattenberg, historian; N. R. Poling, chaplain; Bob Shaw, publicity officer; John Schlegel, insurance officer; Charles Reynolds, athletic officer; Colonel John Harley, employment officer.

Trustees elected are: Morris Connor, Emmet J. Jackson, Carl Crites, Robert Wilcox and Pete Eversole.

The membership drive will be carried on in conjunction with a similar drive by the ladies auxiliary, according to Shaw, chairman of the drive committee. Other members are H. E. Eagy, Bob Urich, Charles Schlater, Carl Crites, Frank Hume and Frank Callahan.

Business men and the Board of Commerce have promised aid in the campaign, Shaw said, and a banquet will be held at Moose temple March 14 to which every ex-service man in Lima will be invited. Preparations are being made for an attendance of between 400 and 500.

The membership drive will close with a Legion dance at the Knight of Columbus building about the middle of April Shaw announced.

LIMA TEAM MAY VISIT DELPHOS LEGION POST

Possibility of the American Legion ritual being exemplified before Commemorative Post, Delphos, by a Lima team, will be discussed Thursday evening at a joint meeting of Legionnaires and the newly-organized women's auxiliary.

Robert Wilcox, son of W. B. Wilcox, Lima fire department captain, has offered to head a ritual team from Lima.

Final organization of the auxiliary will be effected. It was begun two weeks ago, when Mrs. G. L. McKenzie was elected president.

POLICE SEEK DAUGHTER OF MAN TAKEN BY DEATH

Body of A. H. Donnelly, 57, Florentine hotel, who died Friday night at the City hospital following an illness of two days from pneumonia, will be held at the Cantwell mortuary until his daughter, Mrs. Francis Jackson, can be located.

When Donnelly was found to be in a dying condition, police were asked to endeavor to locate his daughter, the only known surviving relative.

PUPILS LIKE NEW SCHOOL SYSTEM

Students, So Interested, They Hate To Observe Holidays

THREE "R" MADE EASY

Special Classes Too Small To Care For Many Scholars

(By Josephine Van de Grift)

NEW YORK — (Special)—Holidays are the worst days in the year for Olympia Pascale.

And all because a couple of school teachers and a psychologist came along and started tampering with her education.

"I'd been havin' trouble with my 'rithmetic," explains Olympia. "It was about fractions and percentages and things and I couldn't get it. I cried a lot and I made up my mind that if I ever got through the sixth grade they couldn't catch me coming back to school any more.

"Then one day my teacher told me I didn't ever have to look in that old book again. That I was going into another room where I could sew instead of worrying over foolish old problems. I had always liked to sew and you ought to see the pretty things I started making right away. I made this dress I've got on and an apron for my mother and two gingham dresses for the school teachers. I love to go to school now. I wouldn't quit for anything."

PAINLESS TEACHING

But Olympia has done more than to sew. Here, according to teachers at Public School No. 3 where Olympia and 99 other girls are entered in special classes, are some of the things Olympia has learned:

To take a tape measure, measure a school mate from shoulder to knee and figure how much goods will be required to make that school mate a dress.

To go to a store, purchase material, cut it economically and fashion it into a conservative, serviceable garment.

To compute how much labor has gone into the making of the garment, figure the overhead cost, trimming, etc., and sell the garment, if necessary, at a fair profit.

And all the time Olympia didn't know arithmetic had anything to do with it.

It was pretty nearly the same with Pauline Manchesi. Pauline couldn't "get" geography. But when teachers started her on an imaginary trip to Paris and gave her a lot of time tables and pictures and Pauline could pick out what boat she would go on and what hotel she would stay at and what famous places she would visit—

MAKES SCHOOL POPULAR

"We've simply taken a hint from the old family doctor," explains Miss L. Pearl Whittaker, one of the teachers, "they used to sugar coat the worst tasting medicines. We've sugar coated the three R's."

In all 100 girls have been entered in these "special classes." They are girls between the ages of 12 and 14 who, having trouble with the usual school curriculum would ordinarily quit school as soon as the law allowed. But under the new system the girls are becoming interested in school work, their school standing is improved—and other girls are clamoring to be admitted!

SENATORS TO ADDRESS STUDENT BODY AT ADA

United States Senators Frank B. Willis and Simeon Fess have arranged to devote several days during the coming summer to delivering addresses before the student body of the Ohio Northern university, at Ada, according to announcement made by President A. E. Smith.

Both senators are graduates of the university at Ada and also taught there for some time before starting on their political careers.

Says—Now Stiff Joints Must Go!

New Discovery Limbers 'Em Up and Even the Creaking Ceases.

Yes: it's true—the world progresses.

All you have to do nowadays to limber up that stiff, rusty knee joint is to squeeze a half inch of miracle working substance from a tube.

Then rub it on the offending part for about a quarter of a minute or until it soaks through the skin and disappears on its errand of mercy.

Then read the evening newspaper and go to bed.

The chances are that your misbehaving knee joint will lose its "creak" while you are dreaming about the high fences you used to leap when you were a youngster.

"And in the morning," says one who has tried the new discovery, "you'll feel so happy that you'll want to jump into your sportiest clothes and walk briskly down the street just to show the neighbors that you are not as old as they think you are."

Joint-Ease: They call this wonder working substance, for the reason that when ordinary remedies fail to limber up the stiff, inflamed rheumatic joint, or reduce the swelling Joint-Ease succeeds.

It's a good name for a good, clean, stainless prescription that in just a few months has proven to a multitude of people that lame, swollen, distorted joints can speedily have the kinks taken out of them and work as smoothly as ever.

But Joint-Ease is for bothersome joints, whether in knee, ankle, hip, shoulder, spine or finger, and for that purpose its sale is immense.

BANDIT NOW KING

Morocco Chieftain In Absolute Control Over Large District

LONDON — (Special) — The world's most famous bandit is now a respectable emperor.

Ahmed Ben Mohammed Raisuli, whose kidnaping of an American in 1904 prompted President Roosevelt's ultimatum: "Perdicarus alive or Raisuli dead," is enforcing peace and order in his good-sized domain in Spanish Morocco.

Nominally he is responsible to the Spanish king. Really he is the big boss.

He is employing the same tactics that he did when his brazen banditry startled the world and nearly shook the sultan of Morocco from his throne. When his abduction of Perdicardus almost involved this country in serious complication, he left him go free—for a price.

Since then Raisuli has been stirring up his fellow Morroccans to resist Spanish rule.

About 18 months ago a Spanish army ran away. Spanish garrisons were besieged, captured and the soldiers massacred and General Silvestere was killed, his body disappearing from the battlefield.

All Spain raged. The common people cursed the very idea of colonial expansion with its threat to the line of their sons, its conscripted armies, its higher taxes. The government took prompt action against some of the army officers held responsible for the Moroccan defeat.

But at the bottom of it all was Raisuli. He was placated—for a price.

He was made ruler of the district. To make his position secure, Spain has just completed negotiations with Abd-el-Krim, another rebel chief. Under this arrangement the Moroccan released about 400 Spanish prisoners, including 40 women and children.

Spain at the same time released her Moorish prisoners. The release of the Spaniards cost the government about one millions dollars—mainly tribute money.

How to Avoid Flu

Avoid the influenza-pneumonia by obeying these rules:

Keep out of the sickroom as much as possible.

Keep your children dry and warm.

Avoid those who cough or sneeze.

Keep the nose well greased with an ointment containing a germicide.

If you cough or sneeze, use your handkerchief.

Prevent colds, as a cold today may lead to Influenza tomorrow.

Do not overeat or overdrink.

Here is a formula for one of the most successful ointments used during the epidemic of last year. It is a combination of the old-time remedies of turpentine (which for years has been the best home germicide), camphor and menthol. It is called Turpo and is the only turpentine ointment. Turpo is also a good preventive for colds.

Your druggist has a jar for you.

If Influenza develops, go to bed and call a doctor.

ROLLO'S GRANDSON

The primer says: "Here are some boys and girls at play. There are five in all. John and James each has a pipe and blow up the soap bubbles for the rest to look at. They all seem to be glad and full of love, as they ought to be."

You look at this picture, modern children "listening in" on their radio. You compare it with the woodcut showing youngsters amusing themselves with soap bubbles 75 years ago. The contrast is almost startling, in the way it illustrates how civilization has advanced. Satterfield shows another marvel of modern youth:

When the modern child wearies of his radio, he goes to its twin-marvel, the movie. From hearing the human voice and music broadcasted hundreds of miles, he turns to moving pictures of scenes thousands of miles away, but as accurate and thrilling as if he were seeing the original "right on the spot."

Study these three pictures, ponder the gigantic changes they portray, and it's easy to understand why we no longer "live the simple life." Show these pictures to your children, to make them appreciate the marvelous times in which they live.

SHAME

UNCLE SAM reports that over a million children, 10 to 15 years old, were "gainfully employed" in 1919. If we had that situation in a year of record prosperity, think what conditions must be when the pinch of hard times or even normal business drives the young into the ranks of child labor.

A nation's degree of civilization is measured by its child labor situation and by its treatment of women. Progress by inventions is surface stuff, not basic, except as it helps eliminate human slavery.

ENTERPRISING

TOKYO, Japan, will have its first subways, reflecting the swiftly changing orient. And the "tubes" will be constructed by an American company. It's a 15-million dollar deal.

The fact that Americans are called on, to handle the job, should be a tonic to any of the rest of us who are discouraged about our national importance. We are a "crude" people—until some one wants a big job done. Some European countries realized that a few years ago when our military machine came to their rescue. Now they seem to have forgotten.

SKULLS

HRDLICKA, scientist, says the average skull of today is comparable to that of the later cave men of 15,000 years ago.

Then how can we account for the great advance in average intelligence, if the scientists are right about the shape of the skull reflecting the owner's intelligence?

Has average intelligence really increased, or is the mob merely hitched to greater leaders than in the past, like trains to locomotives? A safe thing to discuss anywhere. No one admits he belongs to the average.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER

YOUR SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Prepared for The Lima News by Rev. Hugh T. Stevenson

Christ's triumphant entrance into Jerusalem revealed His popularity and power with the people, who had assembled in Jerusalem for the passover. The influence of the Master with the masses threatened the religious and political leaders with a reformation that would destroy them. Jesus had demonstrated His attitude toward the combination of religious and financial interests, when He drove the money changers out of the Temple. During most of His ministry He had met the intense opposition of The Pharisees. His teachings were diametrically to their hypocritical and formalistic ideals, which He had exposed with such skill, that they were determined to destroy Him. They formed a combination of the religious and political forces to murder Him. The Sadducees, who had not been as bitter against The Lord, as the Pharisees, were offended by His teachings, which were they felt antagonistic to their interests. They could not endure the revelation of the sinful life of the Jewish leaders.

JESUS TEACHING IN THE TEMPLE.—Luke 20: 1- 21: 38.

Golden Text. — Render therefore unto Caesar the things which be Caesar's, and unto God the things which be God's. Luke 20:25.

The orthodox Pharisees and the liberal Sadducess would never have entered into a combination with the Herodians except they had been moved by the strongest possible motives. They hated the depised Herodians, who were champions of the supporters of the family of Herod. They were considered to be renegades and would not have been welcomed as allies if they had not feared that the popularity of Jesus threatened their own position, as leaders. They had no sympathy with the Herodian's position that the law of Moses, prohibiting the placing of a stranger over the nation as ruler did not apply if they were placed over them by some conquering power. The combination of these three Hebrew parties, which were naturally and historically antagonistic to one another, in an effort to destroy the popularity, prestige and power of Jesus was a powerful combine. They sought to entrap Him by a series of questions that covered politics, theology and ethics.

They tried to turn the tide of popular favor against Jesus by questioning His authority. He in turn put them to confusion by questioning them concerning the authority of John the Baptist. He indirectly answered them by the parable of the vineyard which vividly painted Israel's approaching doom. They understood His charges against themselves that the Master pictured in the parable. Jesus sealed His fate by His prediction of the displacement of the chosen people by the gentile, His condemnation of the ecclesiastical leaders' iniquity, and His claims to deity.

THE POLITICAL PROBLEM

They tried to entrap the Christ with a political problem that was an adroit and dangerous dilemma. They tried to throw Him off His guard by a hypocritical profession of faith and confidence in His sincerity and fearlessness. They asked concerning the lawfulness of tribute to Caesar. An endorsement of tribute giving would alienate the tax-burdened Jew. A protest against it would bring Jesus into conflict with the strong arm of the Roman government as a traitor. They would have willingly appeared as witnesses against the Master if He were charged with sedition and disloyalty.

Christ was not deceived. He met their attempt by compelling them to become witnesses to their own hypocrisy. He asked them to produce a Roman denarius, that was worth about seventeen cents or a day's wages. He answered them in a statement that von Ranke has well called "the most revolutionary utterance" of the Lord. They were silenced and baffled by the profound and far reaching principles, stated in our Golden text, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's—unto God the things that are God's." His answer filled the expert lawyers with amazement. He stated an evidently just political principle that was destined to "lift empires off their hinges and to turn the current of the ages out of its channel," but its significance was beyond them. In emphasizing the duty of all to pay both their religious and political obligations, the one to God and the other to the state, Jesus did not teach that there existed no relation between Church and State. He taught that "the state, as a state, has absolutely no religious function; the church, as a church, has absolutely no political function; that proper loyalty to church and proper loyalty to state never conflict." Christ did not come to set up a kingdom that would overthrow or dominate any political government. But the principle He enunciated has become a part of national constitutions. In the providence of God it remained for our country to first demonstrate the practicability of the Master's teachings concerning religious liberty. The American ideal of government is in accordance with Christ's answer that organized religion and organized politics are to be kept forever separate. We must remember that the success and stability of any nation depends upon the working out in its political life of the principles of Jesus in the life of its citizens.

THE THEOLOGICAL TEST

The Pharisees and Herodians having been silenced, the Sadducees next tried to ensnare the Master with a theological test question that has been puzzling to others besides this Jewish sect which, as a class, denied the resurrection. They presented for solution a striking case under the leviate marriage law to prove the confusion that would result in the world to come as a result of plural marriages. But Jesus pointed out calmly and courteously the two errors in their reasoning: first, a lack of knowledge of the Scriptures themselves, and second, a misconception of the power of God.

The Master's teachings concerning the form of the body of the risen dead in His answer to the Sadducess is the only distinct teaching that He has given upon this subject. The fact that our resurrection bodies will be like angels, not earthly nor physical, is in accord with Paul's exposition upon the resurrection given us in Corinthians. Jesus pointed out that His teachings concerning immortality harmonized with those of the Old Testament. He implied that all the dead are alive. He conquered them by answers that silenced His opponents. While the Master did not answer all of the questions of the human heart concerning the future and life beyond the grave, yet He unveiled enough in this lesson to fortify hope in such a life.

The two other synoptic gospels tell of a scribe who was attracted by the Lord's way of handling the questions put to Him. He approached the Teacher with an old test question of the rabbis as to which is the greatest commandment. Christ's answer cannot be surpassed as a summary of human duties. It was satisfactory to the questioner himself. His approval indicates that he belonged to the progressive spiritual element which saw that all forms and ceremonies did not constitute all of religion. The truly spiritual man will not despise forms as a means of giving expression to religious impulses, but the formal ritualist is apt to fail to look for the spiritual, which is after all the essential thing in the worship of God. The frankness of the scribe appealed to the Christ and He commended him as one who had come very near the kingdom of God. This recognition ought to have encouraged him to step over the line and become a disciple of the Lord Jesus. Conviction is not conversion. One may be master of spiritual knowledge and not possess the spiritual experience of the new birth. The silencing of the scribe closes the efforts to entangle the Master for we read that "no man durst ask Him any questions."

FINAL EFFORT

After that series of victories Christ assumed the offensive. He was not satisfied with merely vanquishing his adversaries, for He made another effort to win them pointing out that their mistaken views concerning the Messiah. He tried to eradicate their false views of the Kingdom that He came to establish. He sought to have them acknowledge Him as the spiritual Messiah. He wanted them to see that He was not a national bua universal ruler. The one thing which the world needs to stablise society, restore order and promote peace among all nations, creeds and laces is the acceptance and practicing of the principles that the Master taught.

While busy with His conflicts with His enemies, Jesus noted the manner with which people deposited their gifts and offerings. He saw the timid woman whose heart was filled with gratitude for God's grace and mercy come and give her all to the service of Jehovah. That gift of the widow's mite has encouraged many to give to the Master's kingdom but no one can claim to be giving the widow's mite unless that one gives their all. Jesus seeks today to win the world to His standards. When all shall be filled with love like the poor widow had for God and His worship, the forces of the Master will sweep the nations of the earth by their evangel and bring in the Kingdom that will be our Lord's when He comes.

Keeseville, N. Y.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly for the good it has done me. I was so much troubled with female weakness I could hardly do any work. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and read it to my husband. He said, 'You had better try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound', so I bought six bottles, and by taking it I am not troubled as I was. I am gaining strength and getting fleshy. My female troubles have vanished and I have never felt so well. The Liver Pills are the best I ever took. If you think my letter will encourage other sufferers you have my permission to use it as an advertisement."—Mrs. SARAH BLAISE, Box 177, Keeseville, N. Y.

Doing the housework for the average American family is some task, and many women lose their health in so doing. If you, as a housewife, are troubled with backache, irregularities, are easily tired out and irritable, or have other disagreeable ailments caused by some weakness, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. Let it help you.

CENTRAL, SOUTH LIKELY TO MEET IN FINAL GAME

LIMA QUINTETS ARE IN FINE SHAPE

(BY MERRICK M. HILL)

Dope and predictions made as long as two weeks ago, are holding true at the Bluffton district cage tourney.

It has been the consensus of opinion thruout the entire district that Lima Central and Lima South would prove the strongest factors in determining the Class A title, while LaFayette and Bluffton were said to be strongest in Class B.

The first flight of games Friday morning, afternoon and evening verified these predictions.

South experienced little difficulty in putting away St. Marys in the first Class A game played. The Tigers, however, failed to cavort around the floor with the been showing in early season games. However, Coach Burdette's crew have demonstrated that they have pep and dash that they have will never exert themselves any more than necessary to win, and their play Friday gave evidence of concealed ability.

Celina, which will be South's opponent in the semi-finals Saturday will, from observing the two teams in play, be eliminated easily.

Central, which drew the hardest assignment of any of the teams entered in Class A, succeeded in disposing of Kenton 16 to 9 Friday night. The Long Green, which was slightly afraid of Kenton, started the game with a rush and after taking a lead during the first half, played a slow conservative game during the last period.

Coach Thiebert's aggregation meets Ada in the semi-finals Saturday afternoon, and the combination of Kenton followed closely by Ada may, quite naturally, prove too strong for the Red and Green. Ada, after drawing a bye Friday morning returned home and spent the afternoon in practice. Ada holds a one-point victory over Central, and despite the closeness of the games, the Central quintet expressed confidence that they will go into the finals against South.

With but few exceptions, the entire body of spectators at the Bluffton College gym is anxious to see the two Lima fives tangle in the final of Class A. The fact that both teams have each won one game so far this season and that the Bluffton game will not only decide the tourney title but also the city title, seems to interest spectators and players alike.

The play at the tournament Friday was of a high quality. There was very little difference in ability shown between any of the teams and officials of the tournament expressed themselves as being well pleased with the affair.

Games Saturday:
South vs. Celina.
Central vs. Ada.
(Winners to meet in final)
Class B:
Bluffton vs. Blanchard
Lafayette vs. Forest
Carey vs. Harrod.
Nevada vs. Wharton.
(Winners in games 1 and 2 and in games 3 and 4 to meet in semi-finals).

FOOTBALL IS KNOCKED

ST. LOUIS—Football as played in the Western Conference is inferior to the brand exhibited by eastern colleges, according to Fred Luehring, coach at Minnesota University. Luehring who also attended the annual banquet for "Big Ten" athletic officials here last night, said Western Conference football was rough as played by the majority of teams.

John L. Griffith, commissioner of the "Big Ten" declared athletics are not a "necessary evil" as he said some college professors refer to them, but a vital part of our national life. He denounced the professors who have expressed the opinion that athletics are achieving too much success and glory.

Three Youngsters Are Doped To Add Big Punch To Tigers

Three youngsters are doped to give added punch to the Detroit Tigers this season, both in defensive and offensive work. If they deliver, as Ty Cobb expects them to, they will do much to keep the Tigers toward the top.

Herman Pillette, a rookie pitcher last year, made an unusually good record for his first year in fast company. Cobb looks for him to do fully as well.

Sylvester Johnson, the other young slabster who came to Detroit with Pillette is the trade sending Sammy Hale to the Coast League, is the other big possibility. He was the pitching marvel of the Coast League in 1921, but after winning seven and losing three for Detroit he was incapacitated most of the season.

Had Johnson been in all year the American League standings might have been different. As it was, Pillette, who participated in 40 games and is credited with 13 won and 12 lost, weakened under the strain of overwork and his finish was not so brilliant as his start.

Add to these "Rip" Collins, acquired from the Boston Red Sox, and Ray Francis, late of the Senators, and Cobb has some valuable additions to his pitching staff.

Always a hard-hitting club, the Tigers have acquired a new outfield prospect who comes from the Omaha club of the Western League with a .376 batting average that ranks second in that circuit's seasonal averages. This is Henry Manush, who also has speed, judging from his record of stolen bases.

Japs Have Sense Of Humor, Enjoy Yankee's Comedy

Nick Altrock would be a national hero in Japan, where the baseball bugs like a little comedy with their games. They enjoyed immensely the clowning of big leaguers who have been "baseballing in Japan," according to the story of the oriental tour told to Billy Evans.

(BY WAITE HOYT)
Pitcher for the New York Americans and World Series Hero.

The Japs have a keen sense of humor from a baseball standpoint. They like a bit of tomfoolery mixed in with the serious business of the game.

I often wished that Nick Altrock and Al Shact might have been with us. They certainly would have given the Jap fans something to laugh at.

Joe Bush, Casey Stengel and Bert Griffith supplied most of the comedy of the trip. At that I don't believe the Japs got half enough laughs to suit them. Since we so far outclassed the teams we played, the Japs would probably have relished a bit more comedy.

Joe Bush made a big hit in one of the games with his animal imitations. Joe, you know, can give most any imitation on the boards.

It so happened that one afternoon four crows persisted in flying over the field most of the afternoon. Bush would give the "caw caw" cry of the crows and one would have thought the crows were in on the stunt the way they answered Joe back.

Another stunt that always got a laugh from the fans was when Bush would give an imitation of feeding a bunch of chickens, which also would feature the various barnyard calls.

Casey Stengel put on a walking stunt that also greatly amused the Japs. Stengel would attempt to walk around the bases once while two players made the circuit twice. Casey would put on a great exhibition of heel and toe walking, into which he would throw a few shimmy motions that would always go over big.

In one game Bert Griffith, with two out of a couple of runners on the bases, judged a fly ball perfectly and then caught it behind his back while he was facing the outfield. This caused much amazement.

Another stunt that we put over was a game of shadow baseball. Every American fan is familiar with this stunt. The players go thru fielding practice without the use of a baseball. The batters strike at an imaginary ball and the infielders make sensational plays with the phantom sphere.

The Japs are strong for pantomime and I venture to say within a year they will have invented shadow stunts that will put our best efforts to shame.

SUNDAY: Jap dog dealers trim big leaguers when ball players fail.

CALIFORNIA LAD LOOKS GOOD

PALO ALTO, Cal. — Marshall Hale, Jr., son of a San Francisco millionaire, is being touted by Dink Templeton, Stanford University coach, as a future rival for Charlie Paddock.

This is Hale's first appearance in varsity athletics and he will be used in track meets this season as Stanford's star sprinter.

His best time is being kept secret until he has had a chance of making a public appearance, but Templeton predicts he will be next in line as heir to Paddock's throne.

MORAN TOUTS FONSECA

Patrick, you know, won the first pennants in years and years for Philadelphia and Cincinnati in the National League, pieced together misfit aggregations until they became champions.

Therefore Patrick's judgment on a recruit carries considerable weight.

The latest from Moran is that the National League has another Rogers Hornsby. It is funny how rookies come in and are touted as duplicates of the stars of the profession.

But don't forget that the critics laughed when George Sisler was boomed as a duplicate of Tyrus Cobb.

Louis Fonseca, second baseman, is on Hornsby's trail in the opinion of Moran. Maybe yes and maybe no.

This youngster, hopping from the semi-pro corners of the Pacific Coast regions, in one season became a .361 batter in the National League. That was his record in the league last year, playing in 81 games, and he was topped only by Hornsby, Reb Russell of the Pirates and Casey Stengel of the Giants.

Fonseca is not the dashing type of Frankie Frisch. He is of tall, slender build, along the lines of Ivan Olson of the Brooklyn Superbas.

In trailing a ball, however, he hangs his chin close to the dirt. He pounces upon a ball like a cat going over to second base, and is gifted with a natural throw for a second baseman—underhanded.

"I thought I would create a bit of excitement when I said that Fonseca would be another Rogers Hornsby in a year," remarked Moran recently, "but if you remember, last spring I said that the Reds would finish in the first division when practically all of the critics said we would rub shoulders with the Phillies for the cellar."

FIGHT RESULTS

FALL RIVER, Mass.—Willy Gradwell, Boston, was a ten-round decision from Earl France, New York.

LAWRENCE, Mass.—Mike Castle, Lawrence, won a ten-round decision from Harry Martin, Providence.

FIGHTERS NEED LOT OF COURAGE

Possibly in no sport does the element of personal courage play a more prominent part than in the fight game.

In no sport is there the individual contact, that calls for the best that is in the performers, as in the fistic game.

"He can't take it on the button."

"If he didn't have a glass jaw he would be a great fighter. One wallop to the right spot on the jaw and then the big crash."

"He's a front runner, great fighter when he is doing the execution, but a dog when the other fellow reaches him."

"He just can't take it. The old heart isn't right."

Those are just a few of the remarks that are passed among fighters, managers and fans, when the chances of this or that fellow is up for discussion.

COURAGE GREAT ASSET

A coward has absolutely no chance to make good in the fight game. He may be lacking in almost any other characteristic and get away with it, but without courage, never.

I could name a half dozen fighters of more than passing ability, the possessors of much cleverness, yet they have been absolute failures, because they lacked courage. In the parlance of the ring they are known as "divers," always ready to pick out a soft spot on the floor the moment their opponent begins to hurt them.

In some cases courage can be carried too far. I have seen seconds and referees allow bouts to continue when it would have been far more humane to have stopped the contest, than permit some lion-hearted fighter who was outclassed, continue to take it.

Ever since the Willard-Dempsey fight there have been those who criticise Willard for lack of gameness because his seconds tossed the sponge into the ring, admitting Willard's defeat.

Never was a fighter more unmercifully punished, than the beating Dempsey handed to Willard in the few rounds the bout lasted. Willard might have been killed had the bout been allowed to continue.

Many of the unfortunate happenings of the ring have been caused by the failure of the referee or seconds to pick the proper spot for terminating the bout.

Ability to know when a fighter is done, when to allow him to take more punishment is inhuman, is a mark of good referee or second.

The courageous fighter, endowed by nature with a good physique, yet lacking in cleverness, however, sooner or later pays the toll.

Some years ago when George Chaney of Baltimore, known as the knockout king, was at the height of his career, the fistic experts were clamoring for a meeting with Kilbane. The featherweight champion was openly accused of being yellow.

CHANEY HAS THE PUNCH

Chaney was then as now a powerful hitter, but not hard to hit. He usually took considerable punishment before knocking out his opponent.

"What's the trouble? Why don't you match Kilbane with Chaney? Surely you are not afraid?"

That is what I asked Kilbane's manager, Jimmy Dunn, at the very height of the clamor for a meeting with Chaney.

"Kilbane is Chaney's master, so he need not fear him," replied Dunn. "Let them yell for a fight. It only tends to stimulate interest. In about a year I will close the match and Johnny will stop him quickly. Chaney fights often. Every time he fights he takes much punishment about the head. In a year he won't be nearly as good a boy as he is now."

That was Dunn's dope. The wisdom of it was proved when a year later Kilbane met Chaney and knocked him out in big time.

NEW YORK FIGHT BOARD TO BE SHAKEN UP

(BY HENRY L. FARRELL)

NEW YORK — Transfer of two ring titles by what he brands as "sour decisions" has aroused the wrath of William Muldoon, the boxing czar of New York and he is looking for a new staff, Muldoon, chairman of the New York boxing commission, has announced he will weed out the list of referees and judges and give some new talent a chance.

Muldoon surprised all the experts when he came out and expressed his private opinion that Harry Greb had beaten Tunney in their recent bout when the judges declared Tunney the winner.

The commission disagreed with his officials over the verdict in the Genara-Villa fight which removed the flyweight crown from the head of Villa.

"The margin was not enough to change a championship. In fact, I thought Villa won all the way," he said.

Muldoon then expressed the opinion that perhaps the commission needed some new judges and perhaps it would be a good thing to get them.

No one questions the honesty of the men who voted to remove the regal robes from Harry Greb and Pancho Villa, but a lot of the boys maintain that those judges didn't know much about fighting. Opinion with some of the boys, however, is influenced by the way they bet.

The decisions in the Tunney-Greb and Genaro-Villa bouts practically meant decapitation of Muldoon as the chairman of the commission and the revision of the entire commission, according to the political gossips. Governor Smith pays little attention to boxing matters and admits that he knows little about the game. He, however, expects his first lieutenant, Senator Jimmy Walker, to keep an eye on the game and Walker is said to have his fist up now and he wants to get Muldoon out.

CANADIAN BANTAM DEVELOPS FAST

VANCOUVER, B. C.—Just a year ago, Vic Foley was contentedly smearing paint on buildings and billboards. And now, with the Pacific Northwest bantam title all his own, coast fans are touting him to be figuring with Tremaine and Curtin, before long.

Foley, who is 19, put on gloves at an amateur boxing show here to take the place of a boy who ran out on the promoters. His showing won him a curtain raiser next week—and soon thereafter he beat George Washington Lee, tough little Chinese who is the coast's trial horse, in a main event here. He hasn't been beaten or knocked off his feet.

The fight game is beginning to seriously interfere with Foley's painting. He's been smearing opponents all over the northwest, and is showing clever footwork as well as a sock in each fist.

DELPHOS MAY PLAY NORWALK

St. Paul's high school, Norwalk, looms as the next opponent for Delphos St. John's. The school has received a communication from the Norwalk pilot advising that contracts be forwarded immediately.

Norwalk may be engaged March 9 on the local floor. The team has no other games booked besides the Ottawa affair, dated for March 15 at Ottawa.

Contrary to general fears the Blue and Gold lost none of its keenness by reason of an enforced layoff of near two weeks.

As the Delphos season draws to a close, plans for next season's team are being discussed. Three regulars, Imber, Shelbley and Davey, will pass out, but the Ulm brothers, Robert and Leon, have one more year to attend.

With this foundation, augmented by the pair of substitutes, Hieit and Ricker, St. John's will have a good starter for the team of 1924. The Best Evers, an independent sophomore team managed by Cyril Say, has enough material to fill in the gaps. Besides Say, Shenk, Mueller, Hanf, Schmidt, Sheibley, a brother to the varsity star, and several others have been playing a good game on the waxed court.

IOWA, MICH. TO DECIDE TITLE

CICAGO—Iowa's unbeaten basketball team has in its Western Conference game with Michigan at Ann Arbor tonight what appears to be the decisive game of the season with the conference title hanging in the balance.

A defeat by the Wolverines would mean an almost certain tie between Iowa and Wisconsin and possibility of a cardinal championship.

With the Iowa-Michigan game the most portentious, three other Western Conference games are carded for tonight, Chicago at Purdue, Minnesota at Wisconsin and Northwestern at Indiana.

REDS HOP OFF

CINCINNATI — Today was "hop off" day for the first contingent of the Cincinnati National League baseball team.

18 TEAMS STILL UNDEFEATED

AKRON — At the close of the first day of the Northeastern Ohio High school association basketball tournament here yesterday, 10 teams remained undefeated in class B., and eight in class A. Play was started this morning and will close late this afternoon.

Results of yesterday's games follow:

ROLLO'S GRANDSON

The primer says: "Here are some boys and girls at play. There are five in all. John and James each has a pipe and blow up the soap bubbles for the rest to look at. They all seem to be glad and full of love, as they ought to be."

You look at this picture, modern children "listening in" on their radio. You compare it with the woodcut showing youngsters amusing themselves with soap bubbles 75 years ago. The contrast is almost startling, in the way it illustrates how civilization has advanced. Satterfield shows another marvel of modern youth:

When the modern child wearies of his radio, he goes to its twin-marvel, the movie. From hearing the human voice and music broadcasted hundreds of miles, he turns to moving pictures of scenes thousands of miles away, but as accurate and thrilling as if he were seeing the original "right on the spot."

Study these three pictures, ponder the gigantic changes they portray, and it's easy to understand why we no longer "live the simple life." Show these pictures to your children, to make them appreciate the marvelous times in which they live.

SHAME

UNCLE SAM reports that over a million children, 10 to 15 years old, were "gainfully employed" in 1919. If we had that situation in a year of record prosperity, think what conditions must be when the pinch of hard times or even normal business drives the young into the ranks of child labor.

A nation's degree of civilization is measured by its child labor situation and by its treatment of women. Progress by inventions is surface stuff, not basic, except as it helps eliminate human slavery.

ENTERPRISING

TOKYO, Japan, will have its first subways, reflecting the swiftly changing orient. And the "tubes" will be constructed by an American company. It's a 15-million dollar deal.

The fact that Americans are called on, to handle the job, should be a tonic to any of the rest of us who are discouraged about our national importance. We are a "crude" people—until some one wants a big job done. Some European countries realized that a few years ago when our military machine came to their rescue. Now they seem to have forgotten.

SKULLS

HRDLICKA, scientist, says the average skull of today is comparable to that of the later cave men of 15,000 years ago.

Then how can we account for the great advance in average intelligence, if the scientists are right about the shape of the skull reflecting the owner's intelligence?

Has average intelligence really increased, or is the mob merely hitched to greater leaders than in the past, like trains to locomotives? A safe thing to discuss anywhere. No one admits he belongs to the average.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER

YOUR SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Prepared for The Lima News by Rev. Hugh T. Stevenson

Christ's triumphant entrance into Jerusalem revealed His popularity and power with the people, who had assembled in Jerusalem for the passover. The influence of the Master with the masses threatened the religious and political leaders with a reformation that would destroy them. Jesus had demonstrated His attitude toward the combination of religious and financial interests, when He drove the money changers out of the Temple. During most of His ministry He had met the intense opposition of The Pharisees. His teachings were diametrically to their hypocritical and formalistic ideals, which He had exposed with such skill, that they were determined to destroy Him. They formed a combination of the religious and political forces to murder Him. The Sadducees, who had not been as bitter against The Lord, as the Pharisees, were offended by His teachings, which were they felt antagonistic to their interests. They could not endure the revelation of the sinful life of the Jewish leaders.

The orthodox Pharisees and the liberal Sadducess would never have entered into a combination with the Herodians except they had been moved by the strongest possible motives. They hated the depised Herodians, who were champions of the supporters of the family of Herod. They were considered to be renegades and would not have been welcomed as allies if they had not feared that the popularity of Jesus threatened their own position, as leaders. They had no sympathy with the Herodian's position that the law of Moses, prohibiting the placing of a stranger over the nation as ruler did not apply if they were placed over them by some conquering power. The combination of these three Hebrew parties, which were naturally and historically antagonistic to one another, in an effort to destroy the popularity, prestige and power of Jesus was a powerful combine. They sought to entrap Him by a series of questions that covered politics, theology and ethics.

JESUS TEACHING IN THE TEMPLE.—Luke 20: 1- 21: 38.

Golden Text. — Render therefore unto Caesar the things which be Caesar's, and unto God the things which be God's. Luke 20:25.

They tried to turn the tide of popular favor against Jesus by questioning His authority. He in turn put them to confusion by questioning them concerning the authority of John the Baptist. He indirectly answered then, by the parable of the vineyard which vividly painted Israel's approaching doom. They understood His charges against themselves that the Master pictured in the parable. Jesus sealed His fate by His prediction of the displacement of the chosen people by the gentile, His condemnation of the ecclesiastical leaders' iniquity, and His claims to deity.

THE POLITICAL PROBLEM

They tried to entrap the Christ with a political problem that was an adroit and dangerous dilemma. They tried to throw Him off His guard by a hypocritical profession of faith and confidence in His sincerity and fearlessness. They asked concerning the lawfulness of tribute to Caesar. An endorsement of tribute giving would alienate the tax-burdened Jew. A protest against it would bring Jesus into conflict with the strong arm of the Roman government as a traitor. They would have willingly appeared as witnesses against the Master if He were charged with sedition and disloyalty.

Christ was not deceived. He met their attempt by compelling them to become witnesses to their own hypocrisy. He asked them to produce a Roman denarius, that was worth about seventeen cents or a day's wages. He answered them in a statement that von Ranke has well called "the most revolutionary utterance" of the Lord. They were silenced and baffled by the profound and far reaching principles, stated in our Golden text, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's—unto God the things that are God's." His answer filled the expert lawyers with amazement. He stated an evidently just political principle that was destined to "lift empires off their hinges and to turn the current of the ages out of its channel," but its significance was beyond them. In emphasizing the duty of all to pay both their religious and political obligations, the one to God and the other to the state, Jesus did not teach that there existed no relation between Church and State. He taught that "the state, as a state, has absolutely no religious function; the church, as a church, has absolutely no political function; that proper loyalty to church and proper loyalty to state never conflict." Christ did not come to set up a kingdom that would overthrow or dominate any political government. But the principle He enunciated has become a part of national constitutions. In the providence of God it remained for our country to first demonstrate the practicability of the Master's teachings concerning religious liberty. The American ideal of government is in accordance with Christ's answer that organized religion and organized politics are to be kept forever separate. We must remember that the success and stability of any nation depends upon the working out in its political life of the principles of Jesus in the life of its citizens.

THE THEOLOGICAL TEST

The Pharisees and Herodians having been silenced, the Sadducess next tried to ensnare the Master with a theological test question that has been puzzling to others besides this Jewish sect which, as a class, denied the resurrection. They presented for solution a striking case under the leviate marriage law to prove the confusion that would result in the world to come as a result of plural marriages. But Jesus pointed out calmly and courteously the two errors in their reasoning: first, a lack of knowledge of the Scriptures themselves, and second, a misconception of the power of God.

The Master's teachings concerning the form of the body of the risen dead in His answer to the Sadducess is the only distinct teaching that He has given upon this subject. The fact that our resurrection bodies will be like angels, not earthly nor physical, is in accord with Paul's exposition upon the resurrection given us in Corinthians. Jesus pointed out that His teachings concerning immortality harmonzed with those of the Old Testament. He implied that all the dead are alive. He conquered them by answers that silenced His opponents. While the Master did not answer all of the questions of the human heart concerning the future and life beyond the grave, yet He unveiled enough in this lesson to justify hope in such a life.

The two other synoptic gospels tell of a scribe who was attracted by the Lord's way of handling the questions put to Him. He approached the Teacher with an old test question of the rabbis as to which is the greatest commandment. Christ's answer cannot be surpassed as a summary of human duties. It was satisfactory to the questioner himself. His approval indicates that he belonged to the progressive spiritual element which saw that all forms and ceremonies did not constitute all of religion. The truly spiritual man will not despise forms as a means of giving expression to religious impulses, but the formal ritualist is apt to fail to look for the spiritual, which is after all the essential thing in the worship of God. The frankness of the scribe appealed to the Christ and He commended him as one who had come very near the kingdom of God. This recognition ought to have encouraged him to step over the line and become a disciple of the Lord Jesus. Conviction is not conversion. One may be master of spiritual knowledge and not possess the spiritual experience of the new birth. The silencing of the scribe closes the efforts to entangle the Master for we read that "no man durst ask Him any questions."

FINAL EFFORT

After that series of victories Christ assumed the offensive. He was not satisfied with merely vanquishing his adversaries, for He made another effort to win them pointing out that their mistaken views concerning the Messiah. He tried to eradicate their false views of the Kingdom that He came to establish. He sought to have them acknowledge Him as the spiritual Messiah. He wanted them to see that He was not a national bua universal ruler. The one thing which the world needs to stablize society, restore order and promote peace among all nations, creeds and races is the acceptance and practicing of the principles that the Master taught.

While busy with His conflicts with His enemies, Jesus noted the manner with which people deposited their gifts and offerings. He saw the timid woman whose heart was filled with gratitude for God's grace and mercy come and give her all to the service of Jehovah. That gift of the widow's mite has encouraged many to give to the Master's kingdom but no one can claim to be giving the widow's mite unless that one gives their all. Jesus seeks today to win the world to His standards. When all shall be filled with love like the poor widow had for God and His worship, the forces of the Master will sweep the nations of the earth by their evangel and bring in the Kingdom that will be our Lord's when He comes.

Since Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound This Woman Feels So Well

Keeseville, N. Y.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly for the good it has done me. I was so much troubled with female weakness I could hardly do any work. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and read it to my husband. He said, 'You had better try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound', so I bought six bottles, and by taking it I am not troubled as I was. I am gaining strength and getting fleshy. My female troubles have vanished and I have never felt so well. The Liver Pills are the best I ever took. If you think my letter will encourage other sufferers you have my permission to use it as an advertisement."—Mrs. SARAH BLAISE, Box 177, Keeseville, N. Y.

Doing the housework for the average American family is some task, and many women lose their health in so doing. CENTRAL, SOUTH LIKELY TO MEET IN FINAL GAME

LIMA QUINTETS ARE IN FINE SHAPE

(BY MERRICK M. HILL)

Dope and predictions made as long as two weeks ago, are holding true at the Bluffton district cage tourney.

It has been the consensus of opinion thruout the entire district that Lima Central and Lima South would prove the strongest factors in determining the Class A title, while LaFayette and Bluffton were said to be strongest in Class B.

The first flight of games Friday morning, afternoon and evening verified these predictions.

South experienced little difficulty in putting away St. Marys in the first Class A game played. The Tigers, however, failed to cavort around the floor with the been showing in early season games. However, Coach Burdette's crew have demonstrated that they same pep and dash that they have will never exert themselves any more than necessary to win, and their play Friday gave evidence of concealed ability.

Celina, which will be South's opponent in the semi-finals Saturday will, from observing the two teams in play, be eliminated easily.

Central, which drew the hardest assignment of any of the teams entered in Class A, succeeded in disposing of Kenton 16 to 9 Friday night. The Long Green, which was slightly afraid of Kenton, started the game with a rush and after taking a lead during the first half, played a slow conservative game during the last period.

Coach Thiebert's aggregation meets Ada in the semi-finals Saturday afternoon, and the combination of Kenton followed closely by Ada may, quite naturally, prove too strong for the Red and Green. Ada, after drawing a bye Friday morning returned home and spent the afternoon in practice. Ada holds a one-point victory over Central, and despite the closeness of the games, the Central quintet expressed confidence that they will go into the finals against South.

With but few exceptions, the entire body of spectators at the Bluffton College gym is anxious to see the two Lima fives tangle in the final of Class A. The fact that both teams have each won one game so far this season and that the Bluffton game will not only decide the tourney title but also the city title, seems to interest spectators and players alike.

The play at the tournament Friday was of a high quality. There was very little difference in ability shown between any of the teams and officials of the tournament expressed themselves as being well pleased with the affair.

Games Saturday:
South vs. Celina.
Central vs. Ada.
(Winners to meet in final)
Class B:
Bluffton vs. Blanchard
Lafayette vs. Forest
Carey vs. Harrod.
Nevada vs. Wharton.

FOOTBALL IS KNOCKED

ST. LOUIS—Football as played in the Western Conference is inferior to the brand exhibited by eastern colleges, according to Fred Luehring, coach at Minnesota University. Luehring who also attended the annual banquet for "Big Ten" athletic officials here last night, said Western Conference football was rough as played by the majority of teams.

John L. Griffith, commissioner of the "Big Ten" declared athletics are not a "necessary evil" as he said some college professors refer to them, but a vital part of our national life. He denounced the professors who have expressed the opinion that athletics are achieving too much success and glory.

Three Youngsters Are Doped To Add Big Punch To Tigers

Three youngsters are doped to give added punch to the Detroit Tigers this season, both in defensive and offensive work. If they deliver, as Ty Cobb expects them to, they will do much to keep the Tigers toward the top.

Herman Pillette, a rookie pitcher last year, made an unusually good record for his first year in fast company. Cobb looks for him to do fully as well.

Sylvester Johnson, the other young slabster who came to Detroit with Pillette is the trade sending Sammy Hale to the Coast League, is the other big possibility. He was the pitching marvel of the Coast League in 1921, but after winning seven and losing three for Detroit he was incapacitated most of the season.

Had Johnson been in all year the American League standings might have been different. As it was, Pillette who participated in 40 games and is credited with 19 won and 12 lost, weakened under the strain of overwork and his finish was not so brilliant as his start.

Add to these "Rip" Collins, acquired from the Boston Red Sox, and Ray Francis, late of the Senators, and Cobb has some valuable additions to his pitching staff.

Always a hard-hitting club, the Tigers have acquired a new outfield prospect who comes from the Omaha club of the Western League with a .376 batting average that ranks second in that circuit's seasonal averages. This is Henry Manush, who also has speed, judging from his record of stolen bases.

Japs Have Sense Of Humor, Enjoy Yankee's Comedy

Nick Altrock would be a national hero in Japan, where the baseball bugs like a little comedy with their games. They enjoyed immensely the clowning of big leaguers who have been "baseballing in Japan," according to the story of the oriental tour told to Billy Evans.

(BY WAITE HOYT)

Pitcher for the New York Americans and World Series Hero.

The Japs have a keen sense of humor from a baseball standpoint. They like a bit of tomfoolery mixed in with the serious business of the game.

I often wished that Nick Altrock and Al Shact might have been with us. They certainly would have given the Jap fans something to laugh at.

Joe Bush, Casey Stengel and Bert Griffith supplied most of the comedy of the trip. At that I don't believe the Japs got half enough laughs to suit them. Since we so far outclassed the teams we played, the Japs would probably have relished a bit more comedy.

Joe Bush made a big hit in one of the games with his animal imitations Joe, you know, can give most any imitation on the boards

It so happened that one afternoon four crows persisted in flying over the field most of the afternoon. Bush would give the "caw caw" cry of the crows and one would have thought the crows were in on the stunt the way they answered Joe back.

Another stunt that always got a laugh from the fans was when Bush would give an imitation of feeding a bunch of chickens, which also would feature the various barnyard calls.

Casey Stengel put on a walking stunt that also greatly amused the Japs. Stengel would attempt to walk around the bases once while two players made the circuit twice. Casey would put on a great exhibition of heel and toe walking, into which he would throw a few shimmy motions that would always go over big.

In one game Bert Griffith, with two out of a couple of runners on the bases judged a fly ball perfectly and then caught it behind his back while he was facing the outfield. This caused much amazement.

Another stunt that we put over was a game of shadow baseball. Every American fan is familiar with this stunt. The players go thru fielding practice without the use of a baseball. The batters strike at an imaginary ball and the infielders make sensational plays with the phantom sphere.

The Japs are strong for pantomime and I venture to say within a year they will have invented shadow stunts that will put our best efforts to shame.

SUNDAY: Jap dog dealers trip big leaguers when ball players fail.

MORAN TOUTS FONSECA

Patrick, you know, won the first pennants in years and years for Philadelphia and Cincinnati in the National League, pieced together misfit aggregations until they became champions.

Therefore Patrick's judgment on a recruit carries considerable weight.

The latest from Moran is that the National League has another Rogers Hornsby. It is funny how rookies come in and are touted as duplicates of the stars of the profession.

But don't forget that the critics laughed when George Sisler was boomed as a duplicate of Tyrus Cobb.

Louis Fonseca, second baseman, is on Hornsby's trail in the opinion of Moran. Maybe yes and maybe no.

This youngster, hopping from the semi-pro corners of the Pacific Coast regions, in one season became a .361 batter in the National League. That was his record in the league last year, playing in 81 games, and he was topped only by Hornsby, Reb Russell of the Pirates and Casey Stengel of the Giants.

Fonseca is not the dashing type of Frankie Frisch. He is of tall, slender build, along the lines of Ivan Olson of the Brooklyn Superbas.

In trailing a ball, however, he hangs his chin close to the dirt. He pounces upon a ball like a cat going over to second base, and is gifted with a natural throw for a second baseman—underhanded.

"I thought I would create a bit of excitement when I said that Fonseca would be another Rogers Hornsby in a year," remarked Moran recently, "but if you remember, last spring I said that the Reds would finish in the first division when practically all of the critics said we would rub shoulders with the Phillies for the cellar."

FIGHT RESULTS

HOLYOKE, Mass.—Red Chapman, Boston, won a ten-round decision from Romeo Roche, Holyoke.

FALL RIVER, Mass.—Willy Gradwell, Boston, was a ten-round decision from Earl France, New York.

LAWRENCE, Mass.—Mike Castle, Lawrence, won a ten-round decision from Harry Martin, Providence.

ERIE, Pa.—Tim Droney, Lancaster, Pa., had a good margin over Vincent Pokorni, Cleveland, in a 12-round go.

CALIFORNIA LAD LOOKS GOOD

PALO ALTO, Cal. — Marshall Hale, Jr., son of a San Francisco millionaire, is being touted by Dink Templeton, Stanford University coach, as a future rival for Charlie Paddock.

This is Hale's first appearance in varsity athletics and he will be used in track meets this season at Stanford's star sprinter.

His best time is being kept secret until he has had a chance of making a public appearance, but Templeton predicts he will be next in line as heir to Paddock's throne.

FIGHTERS NEED LOT OF COURAGE

What part does courage play in the makeup of a great fighter?

Possibly in no sport does the element of personal courage play a more prominent part than in the fight game.

In no sport is there the individual contact, that calls for the best that is in the performers, as in the fistic game.

"He can't take it on the button."

"If he didn't have a glass jaw he would be a great fighter. One wallop to the right spot on the jaw and then the big crash."

"He's a front runner, great fighter when he is doing the execution, but a dog when the other fellow reaches him."

"He just can't take it. The old heart isn't right."

These are just a few of the remarks that are passed among fighters, managers and fans, when the chances of this or that fellow is up for discussion.

COURAGE GREAT ASSET

A coward has absolutely no chance to make good in the fight game. He may be lacking in almost any other characteristic and get away with it, but without courage, never.

I could name a half dozen fighters of more than passing ability, the possessors of much cleverness, yet they have been absolute failures, because they lacked courage. In the parlance of the ring they are known as "divers," always ready to pick out a soft spot on the floor the moment their opponent begins to hurt them.

In some cases courage can be carried too far. I have seen seconds and referees allow bouts to continue when it would have been far more humane to have stopped the contest, than permit some lion-hearted fighter who was outclassed, continue to take it.

Ever since the Willard-Dempsey fight there have been those who criticise Willard for lack of gameness because his seconds tossed the sponge into the ring, admitting Willard's defeat.

Never was a fighter more unmercifully punished, than the beating Dempsey handed to Willard in the few rounds the bout lasted. Willard might have been killed had the bout been allowed to continue.

Many of the unfortunate happenings of the ring have been caused by the failure of the referee or seconds to pick the proper spot for terminating the bout.

Ability to know when a fighter is done, when to allow him to take more punishment is inhuman, is a mark of good referee or second.

The courageous fighter, endowed by nature with a good physique, yet lacking in cleverness, however, sooner or later pays the toll.

Some years ago when George Chaney of Baltimore, known as the knockout king, was at the height of his career, the fistic experts were clamoring for a meeting with Kilbane. The featherweight champion was openly accused of being yellow.

CHANEY HAS THE PUNCH

Chaney was then as now a powerful hitter, but not hard to hit. He usually took considerable punishment before knocking out his opponent.

"What's the trouble? Why don't you match Kilbane with Chaney? Surely you are not afraid?"

That is what I asked Kilbane's manager, Jimmy Dunn, at the very height of the clamor for a meeting with Chaney.

"Kilbane is Chaney's master, so he need not fear him," replied Dunn. "Let them yell for a fight. It only tends to stimulate interest. In about a year I will close the match and Johnny will stop him quickly. Chaney fights often. Every time he fights he takes much punishment about the head. In a year he won't be nearly as good a boy as he is now."

That was Dunn's dope. The wisdom of it was proved when a year later Kilbane met Chaney and knocked him out in jig time.

NEW YORK FIGHT BOARD TO BE SHAKEN UP

(BY HENRY L. FARRELL)

NEW YORK — Transfer of two ring titles by what he brands as "sour decisions" has aroused the wrath of William Muldoon, the boxing czar of New York and he is looking for a new staff, Muldoon, chairman of the New York boxing commission, has announced he will weed out the list of referees and judges and give some new talent a chance.

Muldoon surprised all the experts when he came out and expressed his private opinion that Harry Greb had beaten Tunney in their recent bout when the judges declared Tunney the winner.

"The margin was not enough to change a championship. In fact, I thought Villa won all the way," he said.

Muldoon then expressed the opinion that perhaps the commission needed some new judges and perhaps it would be a good thing to get them.

No one questions the honesty of the men who voted to remove the regal robes from Harry Greb and Pancho Villa, but a lot of the boys maintain that those judges didn't know much about fighting. Opinion with some of the boys, however, is influenced by the way they bet.

The decisions in the Tunney-Greb and Genaro-Villa bouts practically meant decapitation of Muldoon as the chairman of the commission and the revision of the entire commission, according to the political gossips. Governor Smith pays little attention to boxing matters and admits that he knows little about the game. He, however, expects his first lieutenant, Senator Jimmy Walker, to keep an eye on the game and Walker is said to have his ire up now and he wants to get Muldoon out.

CANADIAN BANTAM DEVELOPS FAST

VANCOUVER, B. C.—Just a year ago, Vic Foley was contentedly smearing paint on buildings and billboards. And now, with the Pacific Northwest bantam title all his own, coast fans are touting him to be figuring with Tremaine and Curtin, before long.

Foley, who is 19, put on gloves at an amateur boxing show here to take the place of a boy who ran out on the promoters. His showing put him a curtain raiser next week—and soon thereafter he beat George Washington Lee, tough little Chinese who is the coast's trial horse, in a main event here. He hasn't been beaten or knocked off his feet.

The fight game is beginning to seriously interfere with Foley's painting. He's been smearing opponents all over the northwest, and is showing clever footwork as well as a sock in each fist.

DELPHOS MAY PLAY NORWALK

St. Paul's high school, Norwalk, looms as the next opponent for Delphos St. John's. The school has received a communication from the Norwalk pilot advising that contracts be forwarded immediately.

Norwalk may be engaged March 9 on the local floor. The team has no other games booked besides the Ottawa affair, dated for March 15 at Ottawa.

Contrary to general fears the Blue and Gold lost none of its keenness by reason of an enforced layoff of near two weeks.

As the Delphos season draws to a close, plans for next season's team are being discussed. Three regulars, Imber, Sheibley and Davey, will pass out, but the Ulm brothers, Robert and Leon, have one more year to attend.

With this foundation, augmented by the pair of substitutes, Hiett and Ricker, St. John's will have a good starter for the team of 1924. The Best Evers, an independent sophomore team managed by Cyril Say, has enough material to fill in the gaps. Besides Say, Shenk, Mueller, Hunf, Schmidt, Sheibley, a brother to the varsity star, and several others have been playing a good game on the waxed court.

IOWA, MICH. TO DECIDE TITLE

CICAGO—Iowa's unbeaten basketball team has in its Western Conference game with Michigan at Ann Arbor tonight what appears to be the decisive game of the season with the conference title hanging in the balance.

A defeat by the Wolverines would mean an almost certain tie between Iowa and Wisconsin and possibility of a cardinal championship.

With the Iowa-Michigan game the most portentious, three other Western Conference games are carded for tonight, Chicago at Purdue, Minnesota at Wisconsin and Northwestern at Indiana.

REDS HOP OFF

CINCINNATI — Today was "hop off" day for the first contingent of the Cincinnati National League baseball team.

TWO ARRESTED IN ALLEGED SWINDLE

Taken In Akron, Men To Be Brought To Lima

Two men wanted in connection with an alleged swindle of local merchants thru a motion picture advertising plan, were arrested at Akron at 4 p. m. Friday, according to local police. The charge is obtaining money under false pretenses, to the amount of $13.50 from each of several merchants.

The men are G. E. Gregory and M. P. Dennis. Warrant for Gregory was signed by Robert F. Puetz of Puetz & Pratt, jewelers and the warrant for Dennis was signed by the manager of the G. R. Kinney shoe store. A Lima officer left at 1:45 p. m. Saturday for Akron, to bring them back to Lima.

Four others, wanted in connection with the alleged swindle, have not been located.

The warrants were sworn out when photographs of movie stars which had been ordered by local merchants, began to arrive. The sum of $13.50 was paid down on the order and the balance was to be paid when the pictures arrived. Some of the merchants put up the amounts and others refused the shipment, on advice of the Better Business Bureau.

About 25 local merchants are said to have had dealings with the six suspects.

QUALITY OUTRUN BY QUANTITY

Forbes Comments On Changes In Modes And Demands

ART SACRIFICED TO OUTPUT

Profit To Masses Is Shown In Machine Age

(BY B. C. FORBES)

NEW YORK — (Special) —How often you hear this kind of a wail: Quantity, not quality, is what the world is going in for today. Craftsmanship has given way to the machine. Mass production is the one dominating goal of modern industry. What is wanted is not superior workmanship but stupendous quantity. Art is sacrificed to output. And the people apparently are satisfied with things that are turned out by the hundreds of thousands, things without beauty, without art, without individuality.

Well, now is this state of affairs regrettable, admitting for the moment, that most of the indictment is true?

* * *

Chippendale furniture was doubtless more beautiful and distinctive than the average output of our Grand Rapid factories. But in the days of the original Chippendale how many homes of the common people possessed furniture half as attractive—or half as plentiful—as the ordinary home possesses today?

Handmade shoes in the olden days probably contained more painstaking workmanship and more lasting qualities than the shoes turned out by the hundred thousad daily by Endicott-Johnson, the International Shoe Company, W. L. Douglas, the Regal Shoe Company, etc. But are not the great majority of the people in this country better shod, more comfortably shod, than they were a generation and more ago

* * *

Take houses. Time was when nearly everything going into the building of a home was turned out by hand. True, there were built last century, and in early centuries some castles, some cathedrals, some mansions, more artistic, more solid, more enduring, than the buildings of today, in which the materials from cellar to roof are mostly machine made. Yet who can question for a moment that the people of America live in more comfortable homes today than their forefathers knew?

* * *

Not so many years ago ready made clothing was a rarity. Mother made her own clothes, the clothing for her children, and sometimes for her husband, while those better off went to tailors or dressmakers. Everything then was made by hand. How does that condition compare with the clothing conditions of today? America now manufactures more machine made clothing than any other country in the world, and everyone who has traveled abroad knows that Americans are the best dressed nation on the face of the earth, especially its working class people.

* * *

How about the heating facilities of yesteryear and those of today? Candles used to be made by hand. So were crusos and the earliest lamps. Were these preferable to our beautiful machine made lamps and lighting fixtures of today, better than our machine made electric bulbs?

* * *

Food and its purveying have undergone a similar transformation. Food used to be raised by hand, so to speak. It was available only for local consumption. No one community enjoyed any great variety of edibles. During long winters the fare was terribly monotonous. Today the machine plays a vitally important part in the tilling of the soil, the garnering of the crops, their preparation into an endless variety of foodstuffs, and their distribution to every corner of the continent. Is not the breakfast, the dinner, the supper table of the multitude better laden today than ever before.

* * *

And so it goes in every phase and department of life and living. Machinery has given us automobiles and motor trucks in place of buggies and drays; trains and flying ships and trolley cars; drainage and bath tubs; ice and refrigerators; gas stoves; clocks and watches for all; the telephone and radio; the typewriter; the phonograph and moving pictures—and a million and one things which go to make life more comfortable, more pleasant, more educative, more hygienic; etc., etc., etc.

* * *

Please understand that nothing here set down is intended for an instant to belittle the importance of quality, of craftsmanship, of art, of beauty, of durability.

But is it not infinitely preferable that our men of industry and business and invention and engineering should FIRST devote themselves to the task of supplying ALL ranks and conditions of the people with an ABUNDANCE of the necessities, the conveniences, the comforts of life than that quality alone be concentrated upon with the consequences that the attractive things of life would be available only for the upper ten?

* * *

It must not be assumed that because a product is turned out in quantity it must be devoid of quality. What our enlightened leaders in every department of industry and commerce are striving for today is quantity combined with quality. And in most walks of life that is what they are giving us.

* * *

Yes, we of today, we of the machine made age, are very much better off than were our forefathers of the hand made ago.

WHEAT DECLINES TWO CENTS

Rains In Dry Districts Chief Factor In Slump

CHICAGO — With rains reported in dry districts of the winter crop territory, wheat went down in price Saturday during the early dealings. The market also will be depressed by opinions which officials of a big grain company here continued to express that supplies of wheat were greatly in excess of the probable demand before July 1, when the new domestic crop would begin to be available in volume. An advance in Liverpool quotations was virtuay ignored. The opening here which ranged from 1-4 to 1c ower with May $1.17 5-8 to 1.18 1-4 and July $1.14 5-8 to 1.15 was followed by a material further setback.

Corn and oats receded with wheat. After opening 1-4 to 5-8 off May 74 7-8 to 75, the corn market underwent an additional sag.

Oats started a shade to 3-8@1-2 lower, May 45 to 45 1-8 and later showed a further loss.

Provisions were easier with grain despite firmness of hog values.

The wheat close was unsettled 1 1-2 to 2 1-8 net lower with May $1.16 7-8 to 1.17 and July $1.13 1-2 to 1.13 5-8.

The corn close was unsettled at 3-4 to 1c net decline with May 74 1-4 to 74 3-8.

NEW YORK — Resumption of heavy profit-taking, particularly in the oils and American Can, failed to halt the upward movement of Saturday's brief but active session of the stock market.

Railroad shares set the pace, virtually all the popular issues recording gains of one to three points in belated response to the exceptionally favorable character of the January earnings statement. "Soo," Canadian Pacific and Union Pacific were the leaders.

The closing was irregular.

Sales approximated 700,000 shares.

PRODUCE REVIEW

(By SWIFT & CO)

Butter market is closing decidedly lower due to increased supply and lighter demand. To day the quotation on 90 score centralized at Chicago was 46 cents as compared with 53 cents a week ago and 35 3-4 cents the same day in 1922.

Dairy prices are generally higher than last year, as compared with many other staple foods, and it is only natural that as the seasonable supply of butter, cheese, and milk increases there should be some adjustment in values, particularly when these products are selling higher than at the same time last year. The domestic supply of butter will probably be augmented by a cargo of 50,000 boxes, or 2,800,000 pounds, of exceptionally fine butter from New Zealand, due to arrive at New York about the seventh of March.

Press reports show that the price of milk in Chicago was reduced, effective February 28, from $2.50 to $2.40 per cwt., or 12 gallons.

Current receipts of eggs have hardly been sufficient to take care of increased demand and the market has reflected the changes in weather conditions thruout the producing territory, and demand from consuming trade. The season has been backward but the conditions appear favorable for increased egg production thruout the entire territory. It is at this time of the year, in advance of the storage season, when receipts increase rapidly, that the most violent reductions in market values occur, so that if history repeats itself, lower prices may be expected to prevail in the leading consuming centers of the country.

Exceptionally heavy receipts of live poultry in New York were reported last week, 96 car loads being carried over for this week's trading, and with new arrivals of nearly 200 cars the market broke to 23 cents for fowl.

Many cars were held under limits and the market is closing at 25 to 26 cents for good stock.

Heavy losses will result to western shippers on account of the severe decline in values.

Dressed poultry also registered lower prices in sympathy with the decline in the live poultry market.

"This is the time you want to watch for snakes," warned a wise old senate attache, as he fingered a thick pile of bills, all of which had passed in recent days without anybody except their authors knowing what was in them. "Snakes" is congressional idiom for doubtful legislation.

Party leaders arranged today for the final hours, and found it would be necessary to kill some time. Two or three bills that have small chance of passage, will be thrown into the breach to fill up the gaps and weep out some of the importunate ones whose bills have not found favor.

Weitzel barricaded himself in an upstairs room. When the officers directed their bombs into the window of that room, he kept his head outside the window and continued firing at the officers.

When the firing momentarily ceased four officers climbed the stairs and pushing aside the furniture which blocked the door, shoved revolvers into the man's back. He surrendered without a struggle and was taken to the county jail under heavy police guard.

SALE OF VICARY BLOCK IN SQUARE CONTRACTED; $30,000 CONSIDERATION

Ownership of the When Store building, 55 Public Square, will pass from the Vicary heirs to Henry Mack, local real estate operator, as soon as two heirs in California have signed the deed. The consideration is $70,000, Mrs. G. S. Vicary said.

Papers have been mailed to California, it was said, to the two heirs, who have signified their willingness to sell.

The When Store, which occupies the first floor of the building, has a four-year lease, according to Mack. The two upper floors will be leased to other parties, he said.

LAUNDRY MEN PICK CLEVELAND MAN

C. A. Bonfils President—1924 Meet At Springfield

C. A. Bonfils, Cleveland, was elected president, adn E. W. Mosier of Lima, vice president of the Ohio Laundryowners association, at the closing session of the twenty-seventh annual convention at the Elks' club Saturday morning. Springfield was named for the 1924 convention. Laundryowners have been in session here since Thursday.

Other officers elected for 1923 are: W. L. Stonebarger, Dayton, vice president; W. F. Lapham, Cincinnati, re-elected treasurer, D. S. Hunter, Cleveland, secretary, and A. C. Shubert, Ironton, regional committeeman for Ohio.

A resolution Saturday morning intructed the secretary to invite laundryowners of Kentucky, Indiana and West Virginia to meet with the Ohio men at Springfield next year.

Officers were installed immediately after election, Marcel Mireau acting as temporary chairman. The convention adjourned at 10:30.

A banquet Friday night at the Elks' club was attended by about 200 members and their guests. Mrs. Frank Callahan and Miss Elizabeth Breckenridge of Lima, contributed entertainment and a moving picture was shown.

Fred Wartel, president of the Michigan Laundry Owners' association; W. E. Eshelman, of Canton, and J. M. Thacker, of New York, addressed the convention Friday afternoon. W. J. Redhill, member of the state workmen's compensation board, told laundry owners of the administration of the compensation act and Dr. A. F. Shupp, of the Mellon Institute, Pittsburgh, explained chemical preparations used by laundries.

C. J. Corey, of Canton, spoke on the purposes of "lace curtain month," which will be held in April.

Committees reported Friday afternoon Resolutions were passed thanking Mayor Harold Cunningham, Rev. Charles A. Rowand and Mrs. Grace Hollister for their contributions to the program and expressing appreciation to local laundry owners for their work in making the convention a success.

WILL APPEAL RAIL BOND DECISION

Lima-Toledo Company To Take Case To Court

Appeal to the state supreme court on the refusal of the public utilities commission to authorize the issue of $2,750,000 capital securities by the Lima-Toledo Railway company will probably be made by Cable & Cable, Lima attorneys for the company, C. M. Cable said Saturday.

The decision to appeal rests with the bondholders' committee of the Ohio Electric Railway company in Philadelphia, Cable said.

The Lima-Toledo company sought funds to purchase the section of the old Ohio Electric Railway running from Lima to Toledo from Thomas Newhall, who bought the property last fall at a federal receiver's sale. The public utilities commission held that $2,750,000 was too much to pay, in view of the past earnings of the road.

The upset price paid by Newhall at auction was $2,000,000. First mortgage liens on the property brought the purchase price to near $6,000,000, according to Cable.

MOTHER OF FORMER HEAD OF POLICE FORCE DIES

Mrs. Catherine Roush, 72, mother of O. J. Roush, former chief of police, died Friday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. O. Cahill, 869 Brice-av, after an illness of five years.

She was born in Harrisburg, Pa., October 6, 1851, coming to Lima at the age of six and making her home here until the time of her death.

In addition to the son, and the daughter at whose home she died, she is survived by four daughters, Mrs. A. W. Benedict, 808 N. Collett-st; Mrs. G. E. Franklin, 611 Ewing-av; Mrs. M. J. Ruhlen, 644 N. Elizabeth-st; Mrs. H. W. Ruhlen, residing in Bath-tp.

Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

JUMPS TO DEATH

CLEVELAND — A man walked to the east of the New York Central railroad drawbridge this morning, removed his hat and coat and ended his life by jumping into the Cuyahoga river. Coast guards recovered the body a short time later. A card bearing the name of Walter Mulvaney was found in the coat. Police estimate his age at 28 years.

MAN FOUND DEAD

George Johns Stricken In Home Of Sick Friend

George Johns, 60, was found dead in the basement of the Owen Bros. carriage shop, S. Central-av, early Saturday morning by Albert Upleggar, night watchman of the plant.

Johns had arranged to remain during the night with Upleggar, who is ill. When Upleggar awakened Saturday morning, he found Johns had died sometime during the night. Upleggar has living rooms in the basement.

Besides the widow, Johns is survived by one son, Harry Johns and one daughter, Mrs. John Eversole and five brothers, T. B. Johns, F. M. Johns, E. W. Johns, E. O. Johns and E. A. Johns, all of Lima. Also three sisters, Miss Sadie Johns and Mrs. A. E. Sterrett, both of Lima and Mrs. William McGuire of Bodore.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

NEW REAPPRAISAL DEMAND FILED

Amended Petition Bears Names Of Three Women

Second petition of freeholders of Lima, asking for a reappraisal of city property, was filed with County Auditor C. R. Phillips shortly before noon Saturday.

Three women signed the second petition, according to Phillips, who stated that first petition contained only the names of men. Phillips also asserted that the second petition bears names of citizens whom had not signed the first paper. Both however, show 27 signatures.

In response to questions as to how soon it would be possible to make the reappraisement, Phillips asserted that several weeks would be required to make necessary plats and appraisal sheets and that the reappraisal could not be completed for several months.

In the meantime, work on the 1923 tax duplicates will start in for a few weeks, and it will be a physical impossibility to use the new appraisal values on the 1923 duplicates, Phillips declared.
